Board of Supervisors Adopts Report of Committee on Appropriations and Takes Recess Until December 22—New Budget $228.91 Less Than Last Year—Tuberculosis Hospital Plans Approved.

Highway Money Held Up.

Supervisors Brink, Heaton and Dushinberrie reported that work on highways had been done in conformity with plans. That work had been hindered by the holding up of highway money by the state highway department, which matter is now in the courts. It was recommended that sufficient money be taken from motor vehicle funds to expedite work during 1925. Filed.

The annual report of County Sealer of Weights and Measures S. Frank Ten Eyck was received and filed.

Reports of two inspections of the Ulster county jail and of the Ulster county farm were received and filed.

A communication was read from the state department of health stating that in the matter of health precautions in any town, city or municipality, the state will contribute one-half of the amounts necessary. Filed.

Resolutions Adopted.

On motion of Supervisor Snyder, Section 7 of Rule 6 was suspended so that resolutions recommending appropriations could be adopted without being laid over.

Supervisors E. Young, Bilyou and Heaton offered a resolution that $15,000 be appropriated for care of inmates in Tuberculosis Hospital and $5,000 for rent of said hospital. Carried.

Supervisors Snyder and Heaton offered resolutions that $6,100 be appropriated for Ulster County Farm and Home Bureau; $75 to Kingston Post, No. 150, American Legion for decorating soldiers' and sailors' graves; $250 be placed to credit of county agent for care of dependent children; $1,000 to be placed in fund to the credit for care of needy blind during 1925. Adopted.

When the board reconvened the report of the committee on appropriations was read by the clerk and adopted, after which, on motion of supervisor Shultis, the board of supervisors took a recess until Monday, December 22, at 2 p. m.

I Paid $5.00

To obtain powders like these
By Edna Wallace Hopper

I long paid $5.00 per box for my face powder. So do most beauties in the movies and on the stage. We have them made to order, by the greatest of experts, and no price is too high to pay.

I have for 40 years consulted the leading powder experts. I have obtained their best, regardless of the cost. So many of my friends have for decades ordered their powders through me.

When I offered my beauty helps to women, they overwhelmed me with requests for powder. They wanted to see what I use. But I could not offer this powder at the price I paid. So I went to the makers. I told them I could sell a million boxes at ordinary prices. They finally agreed to supply it—my identical powders—under my name.

Now you can obtain it. Every druggist and toilet counter has it. It comes in two types. One is heavy, clinging, cold cream powder. That is the type I like best. But the other is light and fluffy. The heavy powder in square box costs $1.00, the light in round box 50c.

You will find these supreme creations. No powders you have used can compare. Any face powder branded Edna Wallace Hopper is an exquisite product.

Mail this coupon and let me send you samples. Learn what fine face powder means.

Christmas at the
T. B. Hospital

Ever since there has been a tuberculosis hospital for Ulster county in this city, two things have happened at Christmas time. Mr. Garbarino or his father have given a beautiful Christmas tree and Mrs. C. N. Reed, of 43 Crown street, has had charge of the Christmas entertainment and distribution of gifts at the hospital during Christmas week. Mr. Garbarino has already given a tree for this year, which will be taken to the hospital in time for decorating for Christmas day. Now Mrs. Reed is ready to receive donations of money or articles for the Christmas entertainment, etc., and she is announcing that the young ladies of the Y. W. C. A. have charge of her program.

DAVIS, MAGICIAN, TO APPEAR BEFORE MASONIC CLUB.

Local people who love art and magic, will have every opportunity to get an eye-full of bewildering illusions when Davis, master magician, appears here with his program of magical feats on the evening of December 10, at the Masonic Club. His entertainment is elaborately staged. Davis is the old-time master of magic. He has a list of new line of side of hand work which is most bewildering. His list of illusions includes his famous trunk trick in which he is bound hand and foot, tied up in a mail sack, locked up in a trunk, after which the trunk is securely roped. The whole job is done by local people. Davis jumps out almost as soon as the last knot is tied on the ropes, but just how he does it is a rather difficult question to answer.

Successful Cake Sale.

The cake sale of Circle No. 1 of the First Presbyterian Church which was held at E. S. Craft & Son's store on Saturday was well patronized. All cakes were made by Snow Drift shortening and prizes were awarded by the Snow Drift Company. Twenty-five dozen crullers were made by the demonstrators, Mrs. J. M. Stevens, and were donated for the sale. The ladies who made the cakes were delighted with the results. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. C. A. Balts and Mrs. J. S. DuMont.

Stone mountain, about 16 miles from Atlanta, Ga., is the largest stone monolith in the world. This huge rock contains 16,000,000,000 cubic feet of exposed granite. One of the greatest undertakings of the present is the carving of the Confederate memorial upon its face.

CHRISTMAS PACKAGES.

Address and Wrap Them Securely.
Address Post Office Department.

One of the important features in the Shop Early, Mail Early Campaign, which is being put on throughout the country by the post office department, is the proper addressing and securely wrapping of Christmas packages. When you wrap your Christmas packages, wrap them securely, put your address in the upper left corner, so, if by any chance, it should go astray, it can be returned to you and not sent to the dead letter office. The good folks of this community last year helped to bring joy and happiness to hundreds of thousands of postmen and clerks. Do your shopping early and mailing early again this year, so that you may again enable the postmen and the post office clerks to eat their Christmas dinners home with their families and at the same time assure yourselves of having your Christmas presents delivered to your friends in order that they may be opened on Christmas morning.

Whatever your favorite radio set may be you can have it in a Victrola

Every prominent manufacturer of radio equipment has offered to make radio sets which might be built into Victrola instruments. But with so many excellent radio sets on the market we are unwilling to limit our customers' freedom of choice—unwilling to commit them to a built-in proposition which is likely to become obsolete.

Instead we have so modified the construction of our instruments that virtually any of the more reliable radio sets may be installed as a complete unit ready to operate as soon as delivered.

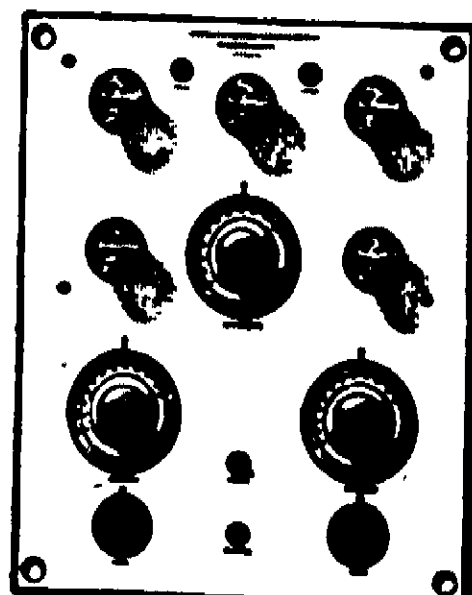

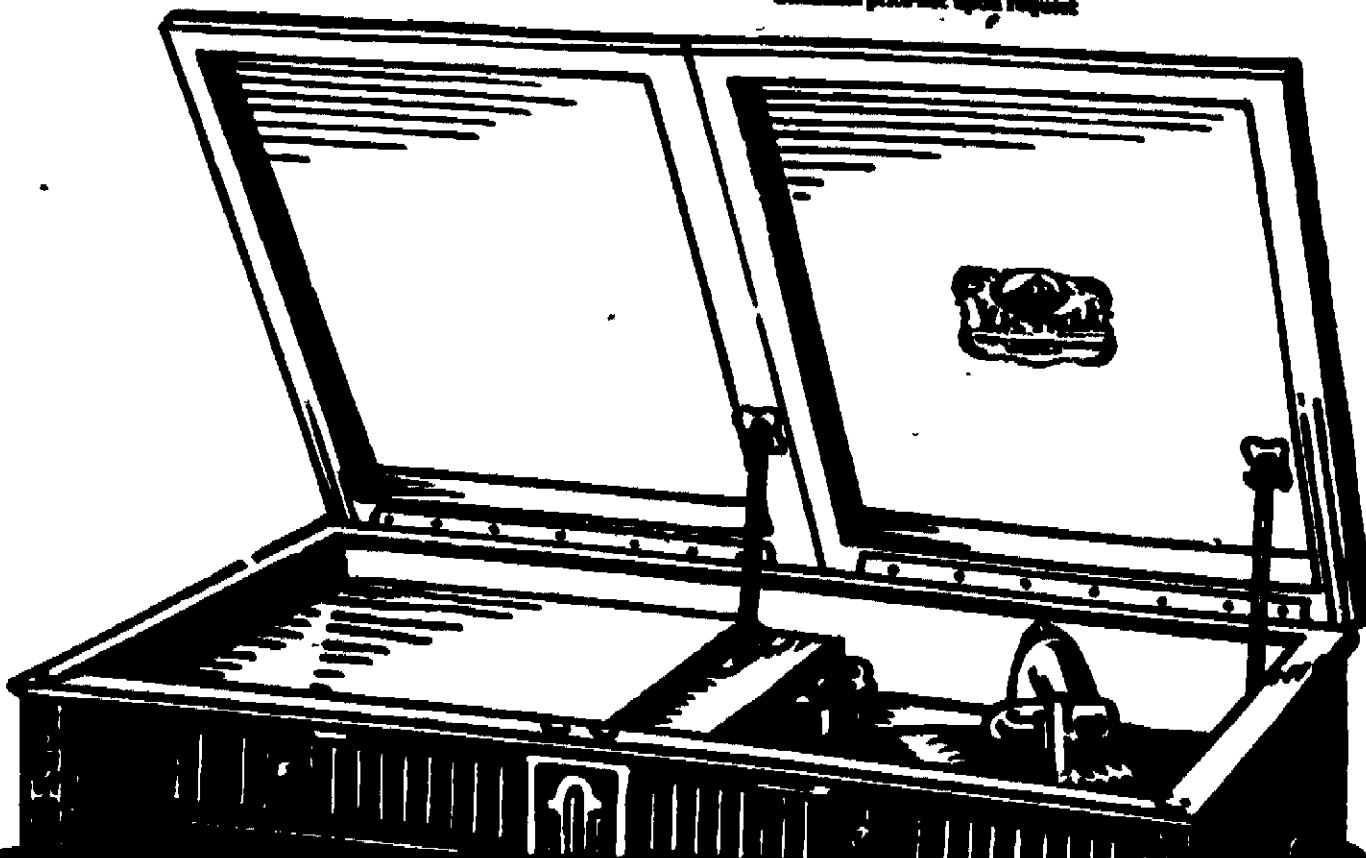

In this way our customers may combine the radio set they prefer with the Victrola, the one instrument which in giving them the music of their own choice at whatever time they may choose to hear it offers such a service as has never yet been equalled.

There is but one Victrola and that is made by the Victor Company.

KINGSTON, N. Y., DEC. 9, 1924.

"Keep your mouth closed when breathing, also when angry," says the former health commissioner of New York. The second part of the injunction is more impressive than the first.

The English clergy have voted "obey" from the marriage service and substituted "serve." Does the latter term any more accurately than the former reflect the attitude of the average bride of today?

And so Senator Wheeler returns to the Democratic fold. This following the withdrawal of its endorsement by the American Federation of Labor leaves the third party with little prospect ahead despite its leader's rosy announcements.

Inevitably New York merchants are loud in their protest against the new rules restricting to 20 minutes automobile parking in the crowded shopping districts. But in the presence of the huge automobile problem the metropolitan authorities have got to do something. What they will do when there is no longer room for either the automobiles or the pedestrians nobody knows.

SMUGGLED IMMIGRANTS.

This country faces the problem of illicit immigrants as well as illicit liquors. The first mentioned problem appears to be much more serious than is generally supposed, judging from the startling statement recently made by Secretary of Labor Davis in regard to the wholesale smuggling of immigrants into the United States. He asserted that 850,000 immigrants clandestinely entered this country during the fiscal year of 1923-24. It seems he did not say how he arrived at such enormous and exact figures or go into details as to the methods of smuggling in foreigners, and so it has been skeptically suggested that either he has drawn on his imagination or our restriction on immigration is altogether ineffective and the government service has completely broken down.

And yet a little reflection will show that the smuggling of immigrants into this country on a pretty vast scale is quite possible. For one thing, there is no limit on the admission of native-born citizens of Canada and Mexico, and aliens domiciled in those countries may enter for temporary visits. How this works out in practice may be gathered from the report of an American official stationed in Montreal that of 57,000 persons leaving that place for "temporary" visits to the United States 40,000 did not return. Then there are the persons who desert incoming ships, those who are "bootlegged" from nearby ports, those who are assisted across, or through their own effort get across, the Canadian and Mexican border lines, which reach over too many thousand miles ever to be effectively patrolled even at vast expense and with the cooperation of friendly neighboring governments. The problem appears to be less serious than prohibition enforcement only because no similar vast element of our population connives at the defeat of the law.

MR. WHEELER SAYS NO.

After conference the United States Senior Circuit Judges, presided over by Chief Justice Taft, recommend that prohibition enforcement be taken out of the hands of the Treasury Department, be put into the hands of the Department of Justice, where it would naturally be supposed to belong—and that the money appropriated by Congress for enforcement be spent under the direction of the Attorney General. In the opinion of the experienced judges, in which the Federal District Judges concur, the law could then be more effectively enforced, for "the attempted prosecution of private, futile and unimportant cases which now crowd the dockets through the ill-advised zeal and practical ignorance of prohibition agents can be avoided, and only those cases taken up and prosecuted which will really deter the principal offenders, and in the preparation of which District Attorneys will have a personal responsibility."

To the average observer this looks like a good case, even common sense, and Mr. Barker married.

SIERRA LEONE.

The first attempt to found an African settlement for the liberated slaves was made 138 years ago today, when Sierra Leone, on the west coast of Africa, was organized for that purpose. Dr. Smeathman was the author of the scheme and Captain Thompson in 1786, purchased the territory from "King Tom," of the Timmanehs, and commenced the settlement with 400 negroes and 60 Europeans.

Between the native hostility and the colonist's shiftnessness, the attempt resulted in a complete failure. In 1791, the survivors were collected and a new settlement was started, with a colony of 1,200 from Nova Scotia and the Bahamas. The American negroes were much more successful than the improvident blacks from London had been and the colony prospered from the time of their arrival.

1822 a similar colony was established to the south of Sierra Leone for the freed slaves who escaped from the United States. Its founder was the American Colonization Society. The American Colony became the Independent Republic of Liberia in 1847.

GLADSTONE ADMINISTRATIONS.

The first Gladstone ministry was formed fifty-six years ago today, marking the initial appearance of William Ewart Gladstone in that role of British premier in which he was destined to gain world-wide fame as one of the foremost statesmen of the century.

Also, it can be said that the accession of Gladstone to the premiership marked a new era in British politics, and the Conservatives and the Liberals have held power, approximately, about the same length of time. Gladstone's first accession to power followed the defeat of Disraeli on Gladstone's resolutions in regard to Irish Church disestablishment. In the elections of that year Mr. Gladstone was defeated in South Lancashire, but was returned from Greenwich.

LADY ELIZABETH CAREW

Was the author of a dramatic piece entitled "Miriam," the fair queen of Jewry, which was published in 1613. She lived in the reign of James I of England. Lady Carew is supposed to have been the wife of Sir Henry Carew, and the works of several of her contemporaries are dedicated to her. The poem "Miriam" is noble in sentiment, possessing beautiful simplicity.

Costly Indian Ornaments

Some say turquoise or turkis is named after Turkey, from whence came the stones that were used in old European jewelry. Really the finest ones came from Persia, but that was before the wealth of the blue and green stones of America had been commercialized. Long ago the Apache and Pueblo Indians of the southwestern United States used them in quantities, for turquoise, unlike most stones, do not have to be mined, but appear on the surface of the ground in bright greenish-blue spots and strains. The Indians used to gather the turquoise and rub them down into the shape of beads, which they wore in long strings. Imagine how costly such a string would be today when one small stone, while it does not rank in value with the gems par excellence, namely the diamond, sapphire, ruby and emerald, is still of sufficient value to bring a good price.

Reserved

I have been in embarrassing situations at various times, but the worst incident occurred at a boarding school which I was attending some years ago. I helped to pay my way through school by waiting on table, and had been assigned to the table occupied by a visiting basketball team.

One of the school girls was acquainted with a young man on this team and asked me to deliver a note to him. To avoid comment, I arranged to carry the note under a dish of ice cream so that, by releasing one finger, it would drop into his lap. I released the wrong finger and saw the dessert delivered instead, while I held the note conspicuously in front of him. I have as yet found no language capable of describing my feelings at the time.—Chicago Tribune.

One-Day Job

Bishop Hart said at a dinner: "A good many people think that a clergyman's life is an easy job. Yes, a good many people make the mistake of Leavenworth."

"Leavenworth was a farm laborer. One day the minister motored past the farm and saw him working."

"He's Leavenworth," said the minister, pulling up. "Hard at work, eh? Well, there's nothing like hard work, is there?"

"Leavenworth strengthened his back with a cross. He wiped the sweat from his dripping forehead. There he paused."

"No, doctor, you bet there ain't, and I guess that's why you chose a one-day-a-week job."—Detroit Free Press.

Depth of the Ocean

Until recently sea swimmers were made with line and weight. Now a new method of measuring depths by means of a new machine called "Sigsbee" has been devised. Sigsbee travels four times faster through water than through air.

Take your "Radio Tours" with De Forest

Do you know the joys of radio voyaging? Do you know the thrill of picking a song, an orchestral selection, a lecture, a political speech from a distant city and being "among those present"? Do you know the thrill of amplifying, of qualifying what you hear at the touch of a dial?

With a De Forest you can embark on the "ocean" of radio—a voyager de luxe. Travel among the songs in Boston, New York, Albany and who knows where—you'll never get a more satisfying instrument. It is a certain, dependable performer. It is a simple performer and an immediate result-getter. A "dub" can tune in right away—it is so simple in operation. Yet an expert can enjoy it—it embodies such technical skill and it is so responsive and selective.

It is, in fact, an instrument worthy of the name of De Forest, the inventor of broadcasting, who sponsors it.

The De Forest D-12 Radiophone is not a "cheap" instrument—it looks and gives quality. Other instruments that give comparable results cost fifty per cent more. It is a complete unit and you can "tune in" with it a very few moments after you receive it. It is economical in upkeep—its four tubes and crystal detector do the work of seven tubes. It needs no wires—inside, outside, or ground. It is easily movable.

Let us demonstrate the De Forest in your home.

Marks Historic Spot

The Verendrye National monument, established in 1917, marks the spot on the left bank of the Upper Missouri river where the celebrated French explorer Verendrye and his sons escaped during their explorations in 1738, more than sixty years prior to the expedition of Lewis and Clark. It is associated with the first explorations of North Dakota and the interior of the Northwest, says the New York Times. The records of their journeys are the subject of conflicting interpretations, but there is no question that the Verendrye party was the first to enter North Dakota and to look upon the Upper Missouri. Thus it is that picturesque Crowhigh butte, rising 565 feet above the river on its left bank, which is the central feature of the monument, is one of the most important landmarks associated with the Verendrye explorations. Like LaSalle's imperial dream of French colonization, Verendrye planned and partly completed a fur trade empire of continental dimensions, but, like LaSalle's, it crumbled away to nothing.

This is a Myth
Alleged immunity of certain trees, such as the laurel, to lightning stroke is a pure myth, says Nature Magazine. In general, the trees most likely to be struck are those that have an extensive root system.

The Tower of Butter is the name given to the southern tower of the cathedral of Rouen, France, because it was built with the offerings made by those who obtained dispensations to eat butter in Lent.

Crew of Fortune Ship in Irons

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Alicante, Spain, Dec. 9.—With most of her crew in irons as mutineers, the British steamer Cibel Gadahai arrived today with her cargo of 35,000,000 pesetas in gold and currency intact. The captain declared that the crew had attempted to revolt and proposed to rob the ship and burn it.

A DEBUTANTE'S FROCK IN NET AND SPANGLES.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

Charming uses of small paillettes have been noted from time to time this season, and afford a pleasant change from the more usual forms of beading. There is, however, no chance of monotony, since variations of the beaded theme are apparently endless. While there is a good deal of gossip concerning the success of pastel colorings, substantiated by fact in many instances, there is no denying the richness of rather highly colored beaded gowns.

A periwinkle blue gown with large floral motifs in silver, gold and red paillettes with a little green between is one unusual combination, while crepe gowns in pastel pinks, blues, and yellows made in two tiers have these tiers heavily beaded in rather deep-colored beads, again in floral motifs, there seemingly being something about leaves and flowers which strikes a responsive chord just now.

While satin gowns with curious lighting flashes—at least such is the effect of the zig-zag beading introduced—are shown also in a multiplicity of color, and other frocks which are distinctly Oriental in their bearing; again, high colors on a pale ground.

Incidental motifs rather than the all-over beaded gown sound a newer note, and gowns which are ruffled, have a dainty way of being scalloped or bordered with spangles or beads—an arrangement which is on the side of youth. Gold spangles border the filmy white net shown which has a most interestingly arranged flounce and a graceful berth.

No wonder fuller-skirts are gaining impetus, since designers show such versatility in introducing the desired circular movement.

Only Man and Cat Sing

A fact that is not generally realized is that, except for birds, the only creatures that sing are man and the cat. The cat's purr is a primitive song and its voice works very much in the same way as that of human beings. A cat's vocal cords are more like those of man than those of any other animal, although they are only capable of producing a single note.

Flowers for Perfumes

At the present time the principal flowers utilized for perfumery are rose, violet, jessamine, narcissus, pansy, almond blossom, carnation, heliotrope and geranium. While the call for certain individual scents is still prevalent, various bouquets, such as oriental and French bouquets, are made through combinations.

Mother of Large Family Has Great Confidence in FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE

Has Proved Its Value For Colds and Throat Troubles

When the mother of a fine family such as this picture shows is willing to tell how she keeps them well and strong, all other mothers are interested. In a recent letter she wrote: "I always praise Father John's Medicine. Whenever my children have colds or are run down, I give them Father John's Medicine, and it never fails to bring them right back to health. We have found Father John's Medicine very good for throat and bronchial trouble. My children always take it for a cold. We wouldn't be without it in the house. We have known its value for over 15 years." (Signed) Mrs. Dominique Lafaille, Social St., Woonsocket, R. I.

No stronger proof than this can be offered—it is such experience as the above that have made Father John's Medicine the great success that it is. It has a history of over 40 years of proven value in treating colds, coughs and as a body-building tonic. Guaranteed free from alcohol or dangerous drugs.

GUIDE LOSES LICENSE.

For Guiding Hunters in Adirondacks When Woods Were Closed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Dec. 8.—For taking a party hunting in the Adirondacks during the period that the forests were closed to hunters and campers on account of the extreme danger of forest fires, Charles Baskins, a licensed guide had his license revoked by the Conservation Commission.

On November 5, a party of hunters called at the office of Inspector Burmaster, Saranac Lake and informed him that they had come there for the purpose of hunting in the vicinity of McCollum. They had made arrangements with Haskins of Duane, N. Y., a licensed guide to board them at his camp, and also to guide them during their stay in the woods. As that was after the issuance of the proclamation by Governor Smith closing the fire towns in the Adirondacks and Catskills to hunting and camping, they requested that Inspector Burmaster give them a special permit to go into the woods for that purpose. This request was refused as it was not possible to issue such a permit but they were allowed to proceed to their camp with the understanding that all guns and ammunition were to be left at McCollum hotel, and Inspector Burmaster agreed to notify the hotel proprietor as soon as the proclamation was revoked.

On November 9, Game Protectors Sterns and Benoit while patrolling in the vicinity of the guide's camp on Winnebago pond heard several shots. They reported the matter to Inspector Burmaster and Protector Kirby was detailed to investigate the matter and find out who was hunting. He went in early on the morning of the tenth and found the party in the act of hunting. Each man settled for his part of the violation of Section 54, subdivision 1 of the conservation law by paying $50, and the license to guide issued to Haskins by the commission was forfeited and revoked for a period of two years in accordance with Section 186 of the conservation law which provides that if a licensed guide violates any provision of the conservation law his license shall be forfeited and revoked and that no new license shall be issued to him for two years.

Johnny, aged four, had been very ill with typhoid fever and had been permitted to have nothing but broth. One day he coaxed his mother to give him an apple, but she refused him, saying: "No, my dear, if you were to eat an apple now it might kill you." "Well, then," answered the young diplomat, "give me just a little piece, enough to kill the germs."

POULTRY

DRESSING TURKEYS OF BIG IMPORTANCE

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

The need for taking special care in dressing and packing turkeys for market this year, in view of the abundant supplies, is pointed out by the United States Department of Agriculture. The quality of live turkeys coming to the Washington market last season was generally satisfactory, but many shipments of dressed birds showed carelessness in killing, dressing and packing the department says. Many of the turkeys, although well-fleshed and of good quality otherwise, were poorly bled, resulting in discoloration, poor appearance and low prices.

The department commends producers and shippers who kept off the market thin or poorly developed live turkeys, pointing out that such birds could not have been satisfactorily marketed. The few weeks between the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons will give opportunity for birds of this kind to fatten and fill out, thus making them more in demand and to bring a better price.

Some of the dressed turkeys were carelessly dressed, resulting in broken bones, torn skin and bruised flesh; others indicated a combination of defects and made it difficult to dispose of the birds at a price which they would easily have brought had they been properly dressed. The department urges that the turkeys be carefully dressed so that they reach the market in a neat, attractive appearance that will appeal to buyers.

Many of the birds which have been well handled were poorly packed. Shippers should be careful to see that the turkeys are thoroughly cooled out before packing, as otherwise conditions frequently develop that result in loss of the birds and nearly always in lower prices, the department says. If turkeys are not dry picked and shipped under proper refrigeration, it is desirable that they be ice-packed, particularly if weather conditions indicate unfavorable changes. It is poor economy to take chances with valuable shipments, and carelessness in any of the details necessary to put the birds on the market in good condition frequently results in loss and waste all the way from producer to consumer.

The Christmas trade is problematical, but producers and shippers should realize that high quality birds properly cared for are always in much greater demand than ordinary turkeys and turkeys which show carelessness in dressing or shipping to market, the department says. Particularly when the commodity is in abundant supply, neglect of these details results in loss, inasmuch as only attractive and high quality produce can be sold to advantage.

Ventilation Is Needed for Health of Poultry

Ten hens breathe off more than a pint of water a day. Are you providing ventilation to get this out of the house, or do your hens take a continuous cold bath day and night without a towel for a rub down? Even you would get the roup under such conditions. Watch out for moisture on the windows and frost on the walls. Put in 1 square foot of thin cloth curtain to every 15 square feet of floor. Keep this curtain open whenever weather permits. Drafts and damp air and floors cause more colds than any weather. Exercise helps to prevent colds. Light feeding in a clean, dry litter 8 inches deep induces exercise.—O. C. Krum, Colorado experiment station.

Cure for Scaly Leg

The oil drained out of the crank case of an auto is excellent for controlling scaly leg or for painting roosts, etc., to control mites, says G. L. Stevenson, professor of poultry husbandry at South Dakota State college. A rough, scaly condition of the hens' feet and legs is often thought to be an evidence of age, whereas in reality it may be a diseased condition brought about by the activity of a kind of mite which burrows under the scales of the legs and sets up an irritation finally resulting in the condition indicated.

Continued Care Pays

Nebraska farm poultry flocks which had had two years of care and management by improved methods which are a part of the accredited farm-stock work conducted by the co-operative agricultural extension workers, gave their owners an average increased return of $61 per flock over the returns of flocks which had had this care only one year, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture of the work in 1933.

Watch Every Detail

Regularly in feeding plays an important part in getting all out of a ration that is possible. Also care in seeing that every detail is taken care of thoroughly. Feeding a good ration and allowing the supply of fresh water to run low is poor economy. The hens must have an abundance of water and plenty of oyster shell and grit. Sometimes all these are supplied and excellent green feed is lacking, and the egg basket is not so well filled as it might be.

ASHOKAN.

Ashokan, Dec. 5.—The Adult Bible class will meet at the home of Mrs. Nell Windrum, on Wednesday night, at 7:30. Everyone welcome.

The M. E. Sunday school will meet on Sunday morning at 10:30. At that time a special offering will be taken for the benefit of the Christmas tree.

PROFESSOR FINALLY GRASPED SITUATION

Doctor Bledsoe, assistant secretary of war of the Southern Confederacy, was a profound mathematical scholar and wrote a book on the higher mathematics which, it is said, only he and Professor Pierce of Harvard could understand.

"One morning, crossing the campus, he met Mr. Julian Ingle and, greeting him cordially, said: 'How is your brother, Edward?'"

"Very well, thank you, doctor, only Edward is not my brother but my cousin."

"Oh, yes, to be sure," said the doctor. "It is you and Osborne Ingle who are brothers."

"No, doctor, Osborne and I are cousins, also."

"Oh, yes," continued the doctor. "How stupid of me! It is Osborne and Edward who are brothers."

"No, doctor, you are mistaken again. They are cousins also."

"Doctor Bledsoe looked up as with an inspiration. 'Ah, yes,' he said, 'I have it now. It is an equilateral triangle.'—The Argonaut.

Fifty Years Has Seen Big Population Shift

Fifty years ago France, with 39,000,000 people, was the most populous country in Europe. Germany came next with 37,000,000, and Britain third with 30,000,000, while the United States had a population 2,000,000 less than France.

A great change has taken place since, observes London Tit-Bits, and from being first France is now last in point of population. Her present population is only a million in excess of what it was 50 years ago, while Germany's 57,000,000 have become 64,000,000, the United Kingdom's 30,000,000 have become 49,000,000 and the United States' 56,000,000 have actually become 130,000,000.

Since 1900 America has multiplied its population by 22, and since 1850—that is to say in 74 years—she has multiplied her population by 6½.

The population of the whole world is estimated to amount to some 1,900,000,000, of whom 500,000,000 dwell in Europe, 900,000,000 in Asia—chiefly in China, India and Japan; 150,000,000 in Africa, 200,000,000 in North and South America, and only some 7,000,000 in Australasia, a term which is meant to include the Pacific Isles.

Sparrow Air Champion

Even the lowly sparrow still can outfly the dirigible ZR-3, if the record of a Belgian farmer can be trusted. Desiring to test the speed of a sparrow which nested under the eaves of his cottage, the farmer tagged the sparrow and four carrier pigeons and mailed them to a friend at Compiègne, France, 146 miles distant from his home, with instructions to release the birds.

According to the farmer, it took the pigeons more than five minutes to find their bearings. On the other hand, the sparrow started homeward immediately, and, flying a straight course, arrived at its nest in an hour and eight minutes.

Ships Report Weather

Weather reports are received at Washington from vessels of more than 20 nationalities scattered all over the world. These vessels serve as floating observatories and it is from their reports that the weather and climate of the oceans are determined. Many of them now transmit their observations by radio. In addition to the routine data included in the reports there are recorded many unusual occurrences and items of interest which have come to the attention of observers.

Job for the Dentist

A Scotchman while in London bought a piano which he ordered shipped to his home. On his arrival in Scotland a week later he inquired of his man Donald whether the instrument had arrived safely and been installed without accident.

"Awel," said Donald, "she slipped as she was gangin' intae the house an' broke a few o' her front teeth, but I dinna think she's really hurt."—Boston Transcript.

Ants Eat Farm House

State entomologists of Illinois are investigating the destruction by white ants of a two-story farm house at Morris, Ill. In removing stucco it was discovered the ants had completely honeycombed the woodwork of the structure, starting at the foundation and going to the roof. This often happens in tropical countries.—Scientific American.

Indians Used This

One of the finest of the wild lobellias is the great blue lobelia, said to have been used by the American Indians in treatment of disease, according to Nature Magazine. This species is found throughout the area east of the Mississippi river and, like its more handsome relative, the cardinal flower, prefers a wet habitat.

Too Much Sound

First Hospital Patient—Here, what do you mean by waking me out of a sound sleep?

Second Patient—Because, old chap, it was such a distressing sound.—Stray Stories.

The Busy Flagman

Railway Conductor (to motorist)—Keep back there till the train passes. I ain't got no time to screw ya up if it kin ya.—From Life.

WILLOW.

CLEAN YOUR CAR WITH MUD

It Will Actually Improve The New DUCO Finish

Far from hurting Duce Finish, the fine silt contained in ordinary road mud actually improves its texture. With a sponge and water, or even with a dry cloth, you can remove the mud and polish up the surface of Duce Finish at the same time.

Duce is made by the Du Pont Company. We have tested and confirmed every claim made for it. It is an epoch-making discovery, and the only radical improvement ever made in motor car finishes.

Neither sun nor engine heat can blister Duce, grease won't corrode it, rain, snow and hot water won't streak it, and it is so hard that it is difficult to scratch. Even bumps can hardly affect it!

With Duce on your car you can laugh at weather and wear. Its beautiful lustre and smooth surface will actually improve with use. Come to our shop and see jobs we have refinished with Duce. You'll want this new finish on your car, too. It can be put on in one-third to one-half the usual time.

Water Taxi's Toll May Be 16 Lives

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 9.—Sixteen sailors lost their lives in the explosion of the water taxi Lemoyne at Los Angeles harbor yesterday. It was feared today. A check showed that that number of men were unaccounted for in the battle fleet. Commander Perkins, duty officer of the U. S. S. California, said that while he was hopeful none of the missing men was a victim of the disaster, more time would be required to determine definitely.

Mississippi Girl Is 99.04% Perfect

Miss Inez Harden, sixteen, of Mississippi, was adjudged the winner over 150,000 competitors in the health contest held in connection with the International Live Stock Show in Chicago. She is five feet two inches tall and weighs 117½ pounds. Following are her health directions: Sleep ten hours a night, drink a quart of milk a day, eat lots of vegetables, don't use rouge or powder, and don't wear high heels.

Heat Simply Regulated
To keep the interior heat of his snow house uniform, the Eskimo keeps changing the thickness of the roof of the house. When it becomes too hot he shaves the snow blocks to let the cold penetrate.

Site Chosen by Napoleon
The Trocadero palace on a hill outside of Paris was built for the Paris World's fair of 1878. It occupies the site Napoleon chose for a magnificent palace for his unlucky son, the prince of Rome.

She Says:

"I Am Thin"
Her Friends Say:
"She Is Skinny"

If she only knew that she could put on at least 15 pounds of good, healthy flesh in 30 days she wouldn't be worrying about her peaked face and run-down look. She has tried Cod Liver Oil but the ill-smelling, nasty tasting stuff upset her stomach and made her feel worse than before.

Doctors and good pharmacists know that Cod Liver Oil is full of vitamins that make flesh, build up the system, and cover to resist disease and change many nervousness.

But it's horrible smelling stuff and very few people are taking it for doctors are prescribing it and the people are fast learning that they can get better results with McColl's Cod Liver Oil Tablets, which drug stores all over the country are having a tremendous demand for.

It's a wonderful building medicine for children, especially after sickness, and sixty tablets only cost 45 cents. One woman gained 15 pounds in 30 days and if any skinny man or woman can't put on 15 pounds in 30 days, your druggist will gladly return the purchase price.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius.

"I'm from Missouri, you've got to show me," the tattooed man told the circus manager.

Proud applicant: And here is my diploma in public speaking.

Prospective Employer: Very well, go out in the other room, and address these envelopes.

No girl now marries a man for better or worse. She marries him for more or less.

He's Not Fussy.

Hotel Clerk: Why, how did you get here?

Hard Egg: I just blew in from Montana with a bunch of cattle.

Hotel Clerk: Well, where are the rest of them?

Hard Egg: Down at the stock yard. I ain't as particular as they are.

Almost any man would be perfectly satisfied if he could find a wife as durable, as useful, as responsive to his thoughts, and as easily moved about as a portable typewriter.

Mrs. Hippley met her errant husband on the stairs.

This is a pretty time of the night for you to be getting in! she stormed.

Isn't it, dear? beamed Mr. Hippley. I distinctly saw two moons myself. Yeah, beautiful night, my dear.

A local Literary Digest has made the discovery that the young man who prevented the curfew from ringing that night was the brother of the girl who stood on the burning deck.

There are men who belong to so many societies that stayin' home once seems like a night off.

It is difficult to get men to go to church because they don't give a darn what other men are wearing.

The Twentieth Amendment.

A lot of boys have been saved since they closed the saloons. Yes, and now they'll have to close the garage and save the girls.

Imp—li—cations.

I sent my boy to Yale.

With a pat upon the back.

I spent a few thousand dollars.

And got a quarterback.

A certain party came back from California, and told us of a lilac bush that grew 80 feet high. We are prone to envy a man that can lilac that.

Farm Efficiency.

There was an old farmer, who lived in the material swamp district of Maryland. One morning at breakfast his son pushed away his pancakes and syrup and said wearily: Pap, my child's a-comin' on.

He she? said the farmer, as he rose briskly. Well, hold her just a minute till I get the churn fixed up for ye.

What the farmer wants at his door is more opportunity and fewer wolves.

She: Why it's only six o'clock. I told you to come after supper.

He: That's what I came after.

The Up-to-Date "Amos."

Little four year old Georgia, son of a clergyman not many miles from Kingston, was overheard by his mother to close his bedtime prayer in these words: "Please, Jesus, this concludes our program for this evening. Signing off six-thirty, eastern standard time. Good night."

Potato's Travels

The potato plant is a native of America. Growing wild on the plateau of Mexico and Chile it made its way first to Spain, then to Italy and Vienna and finally won the plaudits and the appetites of the rest of the Old World. Sir Walter Raleigh was responsible for its introduction to Ireland in 1588.

Drum Beats Help Laborers

Just as soldiers on the move can march farther with less fatigue when stepping out to martial tunes, so music or drum beating will lengthen the toll of the laborer. In Korea native laborers are often inspired to greater efforts by the drum music of a hired player who stands by them as they work.

Directs Verdict In Note Case

Note Was Given by Jacob C. Port to Uster Garage, Ltd., in Purchasing Automobile—Car Sold With Payments Still Due.

An action brought by the Uster Garage, Ltd., of this city against Jacob C. Port of Hone street to recover on a note was taken up for trial in the Supreme court Monday afternoon. The action grows out of the purchase of an automobile by the defendant from the plaintiff.

Port purchased a car and made a partial payment, a note made to the Commercial Investment Trust was given and a car then in the Stuyvesant Garage was traded in with the Uster Garage on the new Nash car. Later Port was unable to deliver the car in the Stuyvesant Garage as Chambers, the proprietor, held a mortgage on the car. The plaintiff claims that in order to make good with the Uster Garage a note for $100 was given by Mr. Port some time later. This note was eventually paid. The Nash car was transferred to Thomas Lynch before all of the payments had been made and it is for the amount of the payments due that Port was sued. Lynch made several payments after taking over the car.

Mr. Port on the other hand claims that he transferred the car to Mr. Lynch and that he understood that by the transfer he was relieved from further liability and that Lynch was thereafter liable for the payment of the note held by the Commercial Investment Trust. He claims that he went to the office of John W. Eckert, an officer of the Uster Garage and an attorney at law, and the transfer was made to Mr. Lynch and that he asked Mr. Eckert if he was relieved from liability and further payment on the car when the license was transferred and that Mr. Eckert told him he was.

Mr. Eckert on the contrary claims that he was not acting as an officer of the company but was acting in the capacity of an attorney between the two men when he transferred the car and drew up the agreement. He testified that he told Mr. Port that he would be relieved from liability for damage done by the car in the hands of Mr. Lynch after the license had been transferred, but that he would not be relieved from payment of the note in case Mr. Lynch did not pay; that he told Mr. Port it would be all right in regard to the note if Mr. Lynch paid, but in case Lynch did not pay Port would have to, as his name was on the note and there was no way he could be relieved.

Lynch did not meet all of the payments on the note, which was assigned to the Uster Garage by the C. I. T. The car was advertised for sale and was sold. Mr. Molyneux of the Uster Garage purchased the car which was in Jack Reed's Garage and upon which some storage charges were unpaid. There still remained $281.31 due.

After Lynch took over the car he made several payments which were credited to the note.

At the close of the case Judge Staley directed a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $281.31, the amount sued for in the complaint.

John W. Eckert appeared for the plaintiff and William D. Brinler and Roscoe V. Ellsworth for the defendant.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS.

Every number on the vaudeville bill at the Kingston Opera House for the first half of the week presents a very pleasing act. Charlotte Worth & Company in "Musical Moments," Wells, Waters & Company in a comedy skit, the Flash Trio, Crawford and Landino, two men staging high class operatic numbers, and Ardo Brothers, comedy acrobats, make up the program "The Huntress," a first National picture, is the feature picture.

"Empty Hands," the latest cinema opus from the Paramount organization opened at the Keeney Theater last night, and if the enthusiasm it evoked is a criterion, then future audiences have a treat in store for them today and Wednesday. The story, which Carey Wilson adapted from the novel of the same name by Arthur Stringer, furnishes the with dramatic contrasts and conflict, and in the type of outdoor stuff that Victor Fleming can do to perfection.

At the Auditorium tonight "A Prince of a King," starring Dixie Dean, a fast moving romantic drama that is highly entertaining.

The surprise vaudeville acts at the Orpheum, which started yesterday, proved to be a complete surprise to the patrons. Every act in that caliber that pleases. Especial mention should be made of the feature, "Male Town Profits," comedy circus. The backing music, the guitar and the revolving table is one that completes a wonderful bill. Sam Wood's production, "Stew," with Agnes Ayres and Antonio Moreno in the picture. It is a first run Paramount.

Tin Can Has Helped Make America Great

The epic of the tin can: Our skill in producing tin plate has developed out of our ability to supply the world with American tin cans. Cans for kerosene, tinned beef, salmon, California fruits, Hawaiian pineapple, Maryland tomatoes.

We lead the world in the production of canned foods; first, because we have the raw fruits; second, because we are proof against old-world prejudices to tinned foods; third, because time grows more valuable as we travel from east to west, is the assertion of a writer in The Nation's Business. Time means nothing to the oriental, and the typical German hausfrau spends a good part of the day in the kitchen over her pots and pans. The ability to improvise a meal out of tinned foods answers to the demand for short cuts in our swift-moving, complex western life.

The era of abbreviation: "Slow," as our forefathers knew the term, is not only out of fashion, but we shorten the word itself by 25 per cent. As to the tin can, be it known that tin plate is nothing more than paper-thin sheet iron from which our steel companies turn out by the thousands of square feet. These sheets are given a bath in molten tin and are thus presented to the world under the bright and shining aspect of tin plate. In casting about for a container for preserved and concentrated foods the world was smart enough to discover that tin does not tarnish in the air and is proof against heat, fruit and vegetable acids.

Chinese Application

A Chinese newspaper contains this letter from an applicant for work: "I am Wang. I can drive a typewriter with good results and my English is good. My last job was left from me, for the good reason that the large man had said it was not of account to be left of him. He, honorable sir, what about it? I can be of big use to you. I will arrive on some date that you should guess."

Brick From Dirt

Compressed bricks made from ordinary dirt have been developed for house construction by two French engineers. In the process ordinary soil with containing 5 to 8 per cent clay is compressed by tremendous pressure. The bricks are said to withstand a pressure of 900 pounds a square inch.

Keep Parental Line Intact in Odd Way

Respect for one's elders is a praiseworthy custom, which, nevertheless, may be carried too far, observes J. D. Newsum in Adventure. On Raga, in the New Hebrides, it has become quite bad form to let one's parents die. Of course, it is rather difficult to keep them alive if they fall out of a tree and break their necks, or meet a shark while they are swimming about in mid-ocean, and extreme old age is also responsible for many casualties.

Even so, the respected parent must not die; he must, on the contrary, live more vitally than ever, and the practical-minded indigenous have found a perfectly simple solution to this awkward problem. They go to the next village or a neighboring island and buy a child of the desired sex, whom they adopt—as their father, mother or grandparent, as the case may require. The child is given the deceased's name, rank and precedence. He is treated with every mark of respect formerly accorded the real relative—at least when the occasion calls for ceremony.

This makes for astonishing confusion among relatives, and it drew from one visitor, who came from another island, the scornful comment: "Raga! Oh, that is the place where they marry their granddaughters!"

Spot Rich in History

During the Revolutionary war every prominent hill in the vicinity of Tarrytown, N. Y., was the scene of an encounter or a fortification, says the Detroit News. Maj. John Andre, the English spy, was captured in Tarrytown. There is a monument commemorating this event. A little stream nearby is called Andre brook and a large white rock, which formerly stood near the monument, was called Andre's rock. In 1777 Vaughan's troops landed here, and here occurred the capture of the British by Major West and a force of volunteers.

The town is famous also as the birthplace and home of Washington Irving. On the north is Sleepy Hollow, where he was buried, and on the south of the village is Schuylkill, where his home still stands. Tarrytown is one of the oldest settlements in New York.

To Argue Haley Verdict Thursday

Thursday afternoon argument will be heard as to whether the verdict of $15,000 awarded Mrs. Mary Haley against the city of Kingston for personal injuries sustained by a fall on a city walk on New York avenue near the Connelly building, is excessive. Mrs. Haley sued for $25,000. Judge Jenkins corporation counsel, who appeared for the city, asked that the verdict be set aside as excessive. The motion was opposed by Andrew J. Cook of the firm of Van Etten & Cook who appeared for Mrs. Haley and argument was set down by Judge Staley for Thursday afternoon. The motion of Judge Jenkins is held under advisement by the court pending argument by counsel.

Barrett Held for Grand Jury

Troopers Ross and Allen brought Harold Barrett to the Ulster county jail 3 o'clock Tuesday morning, where he will await the action of the grand jury on a charge of third degree burglary and larceny. Young Barrett is only 20 years old and was arrested in connection with the slaying of Andrew Barrett, hermit of Mt. Hones, near Fishkill, in the summer of 1923, for which "Bad Bill" Monroe is now serving a prison term. Young Barrett is alleged to have bought a $15 truck which he filled with a Persian rug, hand-painted china and cut glass taken from the Palmer summer home, two miles west of Milton at 2.30 o'clock Monday afternoon. At 7 o'clock that night he was arrested by Sergeant Adams of Newburgh, and taken before Justice Hutchinson of Marlborough, who committed him to the Ulster county jail.

Big Reception For Nurm.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Dec. 9.—The Finnish-American population of New York will turn out almost en masse to tender a fitting reception to Paavo Nurmi, world's greatest runner, upon his arrival today in this country on the White Star liner Celtic. Elaborate plans have been made for Nurmi's arrival. His coming to this country is the result of an invitation by the A. A. U. which wished to show the American fans how the sensation of the last Olympic games could run. Thus far, however, Nurmi has accepted only one of many invitations, that of the Finnish-American A. C. to appear at its games, January 6.

Collegian's Faith in Card Proved Justified

Henry Alston was very careful and methodical—a circumstance that called forth much good-natured teasing from his college roommate, Tom Bowers. "If the card with your name and address that I just saw you putting in your pocketbook ever does a particle of good, Hank," said Tom, "please let me know how, when and where you lose the purse and see how quick you get it back!" "Bet you that card would help!" declared Henry. "Bet you it wouldn't!" Some time later Henry's sailing canoe upset, and Henry was rescued after he had been in the water several hours. On removing his wet clothes he discovered that his pocketbook containing twenty-two dollars was missing. He could ill afford to lose the sum. "Never you mind, though," Tom comforted him, "some big kind fish is going to read that address card and come waddling up here with your money stuck right under his fin!" All that fall and winter a knock at their door usually elicited from Tom some such remark as, "Hurry up, Hank, hurry up! Here's that obliging old fish with your wallet!" One warm day the following May Henry received a letter bearing the postmark of a nearby town. As he finished reading it he uttered a joyous shout and thrust it under the eyes of his roommate. "Dear Mr. Alston," the letter ran, "yesterday my wife asked me to pound up some ice for ice cream, and while using the mallet in vigorous style I came across something black and pliable—a leather wallet containing twenty-two dollars in bills and a card bearing your name and address. The card is a little the worse for wear, money is O. K. A queer chance finding the article, and I'd like to hear the history sometime. Am returning all to you intact by registered mail. Yours truly, L. M. Hawkins.—Youth's Companion."

Cliff's Fall Laid Bare Treasure Long Hidden

One of the most dramatic discoveries in the history of archeology occurred when a fall of the cliff near Babylon, Syria, exposed a corner of a rock-cut tomb over 4,000 years old, the existence of which had long been suspected but never proved. The cliff revealed to a peasant by a large earthquake with a unique lid, having large mushroom-shaped knobs by which, no doubt, it was originally handled. The rock burials in very poor, and a layer of muddy soil, two deep, which had filtered down through the ages, covered the floor. In the gallery a further small tomb or grave was found. The tomb was originally entered by three pits, which were afterwards walled in below and filled in above. Among the objects found were astronomical and bone fragments, a lamp of bronze or gold, silver vessels, a goblet of obsidian and gold, two gold earrings, an alabaster vase, a bronze vase, and plaques of ivory or ivory ware.

THE PLOT AGAINST HER LOVER

By GERTRUDE SHERIDAN

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union)
"SEND for a detective!" The speaker, Mori Davis, looked excited and his auditor, Eugene Marcy, started. "Think you've got the goods on Ralph Barton, do you?" interjected the latter. "I think I've got the start of a mighty fine case," replied Davis. "You want to go slow," advised his companion and enemy. "Not that I like Ralph Barton, but he stands pretty well here; they say he's a coming man and it's good politics to have him friendly." "See here, Marcy," broke in Davis, "you don't want that pretty cousin of yours, Lucia Page, to marry an adventurer, do you?" "Certainly not." "And you expect someone to help you pay that $400 you're short on in your town treasurer fund, don't you?" "I've got to find that money, yes," said Marcy, wincing. "All right—send for a detective and start the ball rolling. I'll guarantee results. I don't want to act in the case for fear it might spoil my chance with Lucia when this Barton is off the boards. She was nice enough to me before he came upon the scene. Furthermore, the day her engagement with Barton is broken up, I'll loan you that four hundred dollars." "You will," cried Marcy with animation. "Then I'll join in with you in running this impostor down—if he is an impostor."

"He's worse," declared Davis, lowering his voice and looking desperately mysterious—"he's a counterfeiter." "You don't say so?" "I do, and I've got the proofs." The speaker cautiously drew from his pocket a package. He undid it and exposed to the staring glance of his companion nearly a hundred new ten-dollar bills.

"Counterfeit!" he announced impressively—"all of them; I've learned that beyond question." "Where did you get them?" inquired the bewildered Marcy. "Well, you know I've been watching Barton for some time! He comes a stranger to town, buys an expensive place, opens a big bank account and nobody knows where he comes from. Says he's a professional man retired. Passes his time idly experimenting with some inventions. Picks out the handsomest girl in the place—that's Lucia. Then I discovered that he would disappear at spells from his home. He would always leave mysteriously at night. Carried a secret-looking satchel and gone for several days."

"Yes, I've heard about that," remarked Marcy musingly. "I set to watching him. No good. Last week he slipped me, leaving town. I hung around his house. Just at dawn yesterday morning I see him carrying out a trunk from his house. He throws it on a heap of dead leaves in the back yard. The wind blew out all the matches he tried to light. While he was gone into the house for more matches I sneaked up to the spot. The trunk had burst open. I noticed a suspicious-looking package—counterfeits!"

"It looks bad for the man, I must say," admitted Marcy. "I guess we'd better hire a detective, as you suggest." So the sleuth in question was sent for and arrived in the town the following evening. He exhibited great profundity, wore a palpable disguise, trod like an Italian bravo, had a full store of tragic "Hist!" and after hearing the story of the volatile Davis and surveying the Barton place he made this announcement:

"We must trail this man to his lair." "What do you mean?" asked Davis. "He goes off on mysterious errands. What for? Counterfeits? Don't you see, if we can link him up with a band of the desperadoes who make that bad money, he is lost."

"That's it—that's it!" encouraged Davis excitedly. "I shouldn't wonder if he had slipped us already," suggested Marcy, as they entered the garden of the Barton place about eight o'clock the next evening.

"I think not," said Davis. "See, there's a light in his study—in the wing upstairs." "That's so," nodded the detective. "Yes, and there is a figure seated at a desk."

"It's Ralph Barton," proclaimed Davis, after a fixed glance through the lace curtains. All three of the lurkers could vaguely make out a figure at a desk. They could see the head and arms move. So far, at least, their prey had not escaped them.

"He may leave on one of his mysterious journeys at any time," spoke the detective. "So we had better keep up the watch." This grew tiresome in two hours. By midnight Davis was bored to death. Marcy fast asleep and the detective restless and weary. He crossed up his dull companions. "See here, you fellows," he observed. "I don't like the looks of things. That Barton has been seated at that desk upstairs there in his study for hours. I'm going to venture a little closer." "How?" asked Davis. "I'll show you," and the interrupted sleuth proceeded toward the house. The others saw him ascend a trellis and peer through the window beyond. "Busted! Overruled!" he blurted dramatically as he descended. "What now?" queried Davis. "That Barton of yours at the desk."

"Yes? just?" "No such thing—a dummy, as ap-

WHICH COURSE? A WORD OF ADVICE

A graduate of the Moran School's Complete (Combined) Course is more than a Stenographer—more than a Bookkeeper. He feels equally at home in the Accounting, Correspondence and Executive Departments of modern business—and the way is clear for his rapid advancement to important executive positions. DECEMBER IS AN ENROLLMENT MONTH.

public. "Oh, yes, they are," the manager got up the courage to retort. "I'll bet you a box of cigars they are wrong 70 per cent of the time," the boss exclaimed. "Have Johnson keep count for a month, and see for yourself."

The manager accepted the deal and ordered Johnson to make a record of the weather for the month, taking the prognostication of the bureau and then checking up by looking out the window. And Johnson did. And at the end of the month the weather bureau was found to have made good on just 30 per cent of its promises. Then the manager called up the bureau and had them send him their official figures. And he found that for the whole country, for the past five years, the weather experts had correctly diagnosed the weather in advance fully 85 per cent of the time. It has come to be a true science, the manager was told, and only an occasional local disturbance spoils all their calculations and brings an unexpected storm, or the wind changes suddenly and blows a promised storm out to sea.—New York Evening World.

Drilling Holes in Glass
Drilling holes in glass is not so very difficult. The old method utilized a discarded triangular file, ground to a sharp point and used in a brace with a slight pressure. The point of contact was lubricated with turpentine. The more recent way and one that is quicker is to use a brass or copper tube with this walls instead of a file, says Popular Science Monthly. The tube is placed in a brace and drilling is accomplished with powdered carborundum as a cutting agent. A guide of wood keeps the tube properly centered.

Don't Let Foot and Shoe Give The Same Flat Appearance

Weak or fallen arches give the foot an unfortunately flat appearance, and there are certain types of shoes that should never be worn by the woman whose arches are not ordinarily high. The usual shoe, for instance, exaggerates this deficiency greatly, for its low heel and archless shape show the foot at its worst. A shoe with many straps and with cut work and open designs show plainly that the arch is falling and the instep resolutely low. Illustrated is a shoe that takes care of these points, for the bow and tongue hide, instead of exaggerate, the low instep, and the high heel and arch of the shoe give the foot a dainty line.

HEARD THE JUDGE
Many Radio Fans Tuned In On St. Nicholas Society Banquet.
Judge Clearwater was one of the guests of honor at the dinner given by the Colonial Dames of America to the Dutchess Cyril of Russia, at the Park Lane in New York City on Sunday evening. On Saturday evening the judge presided at the thirty-ninth dinner of the St. Nicholas Society at the Hotel Baltimore, the speakers at which were Dr. Faunce, president of Brown University and president of the World Peace Foundation; Admiral Moffett, who accompanied the great dirigible Shenandoah on her transcontinental trip; General Johnson Hagood, who was distinguished in the Air Force, and Admiral Pinckney, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The grandeur of the dinner is said to have been the largest at any dinner of the society during the last twenty years. The speeches were broadcast, and many people in Kingston tuned in, heard the judge's address, his introduction of the various speakers and all of the speeches.

Smoking in Church
Smoking is common in South American churches. A visitor to Peru records that at a church in Lima he noticed one of the congregation enjoying a cigar during service and the bishop indulging in the same luxury.

Shower Built Great Hole
The hole in the harbor of Agaña, Adria, was built by 25,000 Chinese slaves who the Turks cut to work in R about 1600. It took this great army three years to complete the work.

Police Recover Mack's Jewels

By Telegram to The Freeman. Cleveland, O., Dec. 9.—Pearls and diamonds valued at $40,000 thought to have been stolen from the Buffalo home of Norman E. Mack, New York Democratic national committeeman, were in the hands of police here today.

Two men, Neil Riddel and Arthur Lynch, who police said attempted to dispose of the jewels were being held for questioning.

According to police, Riddel visited a well known jewelry store here late yesterday and attempted to sell the pearls for $2,000. He was detained by a clerk until the arrival of the police. Lynch was taken into custody shortly after he sat in a mud splattered automobile near the store.

Mack's home was entered last week.

Forty Imperiled In Lake Storm

Vessels Torn From Moorings Are Foundering in Pieces While Life-Savers Are Helpless—Little Hope If Ships Break Up. By Telegram to The Freeman. Sackett's Harbor, Dec. 9.—The lives of forty men are imperiled today while two vessels of which they form the crews are pounding to pieces on the rocks off Catfish Point in the outer bay.

The freighter, A. D. McTier which was taken off Stony Point ledge yesterday by wrecking crews, and the lighter, Isabelle Reed, were torn from their moorings early this morning in one of the worst storms of the season and were swept into the blackness of the outer bay while life-savers looked on helplessly.

The gale is continuing with unabated fury and all efforts to assist the sailors have been fruitless. The Rig Sandy life crew is being rushed here in hopes that their lighter boats may be able to reach the doomed vessels.

Harbor men fear that the terrific pounding will smash the stranded ships before help arrives. They are lying in twelve feet of water, but the hurricane is driving waves over the decks of both ships. In case they break up, there is little hope for saving the crews of either vessels.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, Dec. 9.—The stock market lapsed into dullness today after being pushed into higher price levels under the stimulus of a brisk rally in the copper, motor and industrial stocks in the first hour. Trading was again in reduced volume.

While the copper stocks moved quietly into higher prices, spectacular moves were seen in the motors and in some of the industrial market leaders. Efforts of the bears to extricate themselves from American Can, Cast Iron Pipe and other high priced shares always produced sharp advances in the stock sought. Investment buying of United States Steel, American Telephone and Telegraph and American Car and Foundry was a feature of the session.

Pierce Arrow Preferred was a strong leader in the motor stocks, advancing for an additional gain of 5 points and selling up to 64. Maxwell stocks continued their forward movement. Chandler was up 2 points at 34. New specialty stocks were brought prominently to the front today.

The railroad and steel stocks made a belated entry into the active market. Southern Railway was a feature of the former group, duplicating its former high price at 77. Independent steels under the lead of Gulf States also took a spurt.

Sterling Exchange went through to a new high above 47. Steel mills reported a large advance in forward orders and an increase in current operations; money was unchanged with call funds at 3 1/4 per cent.

Tribute of Bar To Hector Sears

Memorial Prepared by Lawyers
Committee Spreads on Minutes of Court, Together With Remarks of DeWitt W. Ostrander and Judge
Staley.

At the October term of the supreme court Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck named a committee composed of three members of the Ulster County Bar to draw up resolutions in regard to the death of Hector Sears of Gardiner, one of the oldest members of the Ulster County Bar. The members of the committee, Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, Hon. J. N. Vanderlyn and DeWitt W. Ostrander, offered the following resolution at the December term of the supreme court now in session at the court house:

To the supreme court:
At the October term of this court, Justice Hasbrouck named the undersigned a committee to make to this court formal mention of the death of Hector Sears, of Gardiner, N. Y.

Mr. Sears was one of the oldest of the practitioners at the Ulster County Bar. Born in the town of Rochester, his county, in 1842, he enlisted at the outbreak of the Civil War at the age of twenty as a corporal in the 71st N. Y. State Militia and participated in the first battle of Bull Run, was later made 2nd Lieutenant and 1st Lieutenant; he was so seriously wounded at Fort Hudson that it became necessary to remove the shoulder joint; this would have amply justified the acceptance of the offered discharge but he insisted upon remaining in service so long as his country could use him, and from '64 to '69 he served under several most important assignments—Assistant military superintendent of War Department, in charge of Camp Casey, then as provost marshal with headquarters at Fredericksburg, having in charge not only the city itself but nine counties of Virginia; he finally retired from service in 1889 with a brevet rank of captain and a citation for bravery at Port Hudson.

Upon his return to his home county he began the study of law with John P. Sears, a well known attorney of Montgomery, N. Y., was admitted to the bar in 1879 and immediately opened an office at Gardiner and there continued the practice of law until very shortly before his death.

In addition to his professional duties he was for years the editor of the Gardiner Weekly and the Highland Post; he served as supervisor of his town, and for several terms as Justice of the peace, and he was a member of numerous fraternal organizations. He was friendly with his fellows, broadminded and kindly.

As a practicing attorney, Hector Sears's clients were to be found through all the southern Ulster towns; he was a safe adviser, honest and upright in his professional dealings, careful and accurate in his work, and a satisfactory conclusion of his clients' business was his chief concern. The financial return to himself was secondary. He considered the law as a profession and not a business.

These many years of activity are remarkable for the service he rendered to his country that he loved and for which he sacrificed, to his community in which he had a real and unselfish interest, to his clients whose business was zealously and honestly cared for.

Your committee therefore moves that this court takes formal notice of the death of Hector Sears, practitioner at the bar of Ulster county for 45 years, that a page of the records of this court be assigned to the noting of his death, to the end that there may be a public record of the record and respect had by the bench and bar for a gallant soldier, a good citizen and an honest and successful lawyer, and we further move that a copy of this report be sent by the clerk of this court to Mr. Sears's family.

(Signed) JOSEPH M. FOWLER
JOHN N. VANDERLYN
D. W. OSTRANDER.

Mr. Ostrander's Eulogy.

The following remarks were offered by Attorney D. W. Ostrander of Clintondale:

"While these privileges are taking place I cannot permit the occasion to pass without laying upon the grave of our departed friend some token of my affection and regard."

"Upon the whole his character as a lawyer was a combination of some of the finest elements that have been united in any member of the profession. Among those which may be regarded as primary or fundamental were a reverential love for knowledge and a fervent zeal for justice as the end and fruit of the law; the former was acquired by laborious study after he returned from service as a soldier in the War of 1861 and the latter was purified by a ceaseless endeavor to ascertain the truth; every matter entrusted to his care was attended by patient investigation, both as to the law and facts, so that in the end his deductions were singularly free from fault and he rarely failed to arrive at a correct conclusion."

"Other lawyers may have had more knowledge at immediate command; some, however, had their learning under better discipline or in a better condition, or more effective for the duty at hand. His mind did not flow through his written papers in a stream of abundant richness, yet his current was transparently clear and its depth was never less than the subject required; however complicated or involved, he was versed at all times to the exigencies of his profession without any such emotion as appeared to disturb the harmony or even the repose of his faculties."

"His temper was singularly placable and benevolent; it was not in his power to remember an injury. It was my privilege to be with him, and know him more intimately than perhaps any other member of the profession during the latter years of his life, and I have heard him re-

FIANCE DIES ON WEDDING EVE

MISS ISABELLE ROSE

The marriage of Miss Isabelle Rose of Kingston, N. Y., and a Northern University, and Nelson McArthur, a young man of Chicago, was held by his death. Knowing he could marry him on his death bed, but by the time she returned with the news, he was dead.

mark in substance, that he was at peace with all the world; that he entertained no ill will toward any person and there was no person to whom he would not do a kind act and render service if it were in his power so to do, and that no man could be happy who could not forgive and forget injuries he may have received from his fellows, intentionally or otherwise. How substantial was this conclusion to his exemplary life; what a grace did this spirit impart to his own supplications. This was not a counterfeit virtue assumed at a time when the power to retaliate was wasted by age and infirmities; it was the overflow of a kindly nature, expressed while in the strength of his manhood. It was the virtue of one who made known the foundation upon which his benevolence rested.

"The private life of this lawyer was the reflection of a clear mind and of a conscience void of offense; he was kind, generous and forbearing, not unlike the equal current of a majestic river that reflects from its surface the riches of a countryside and well spent life."

"Such is my tribute to the life and character of the late Hector Sears; he merited by his rugged honesty and by his private virtues the respect and affection of all who knew him and of all mankind."

Judge Staley's Tribute.

Judge Staley in accepting the memorandum offered by the Ulster County Bar by Judge Fowler, chairman of the committee, and by Mr. Ostrander, made the following remarks:

"It was not the privilege or pleasure of the court to have known Mr. Sears in his lifetime, but it would seem to be most fitting and most proper that a life that has been so faithful and a life that has been so loyal to its obligations and the obligations of the country should not pass unnoticed. The memorial presented by the committee will therefore be entered in full on the minutes of the court, together with a notation of the remarks made by Mr. Ostrander."

Cent Vikings Had Skill in Navigation

American naval officers who visited in connection with the globe-trotting flight of the American aviators were greatly interested in the methods of the old vikings. More than 1,000 years ago, sailed the vessels, without compasses, bar instruments, across the North Atlantic to Iceland, Greenland and even the shores of America.

Today the charts of these waters are largely based on observations and soundings made by whalers and fish explorers, scores of years ago. The few large vessels that visit these seas proceed with great caution, sailing directly "by the eye of the sea," are circumspect, and when new soundings are made the results are sent to the governments for incorporation in the charts.

When Lord Erickson and the adventurous and nervous old man ten centuries ago set out on dangerous voyages there were no charts and the stars were the only guides. The observations they made were for centuries the only sailing directions, and were charted in the form of sagas, as the galleys swept over the rough seas. Some of these sagas exist today, and old pilots at Reykjavik are familiar with the lore they contain.

One of these, describing the journey from Norway to Greenland, not only takes account of the physical features to be watched for, but advises the navigators to keep a lookout for the birds and whales that mark the approaches to the Icelandic coast.

A naval officer who made a study of this route found it was almost a perfect great-circle, or shortest sailing route, worked out without any scientific aid by navigators who probably could neither read nor write.

Oldest Hens

A resident of Jasper, Ark., has two of the oldest hens on record in that section of the country, both being eighty years old. They have been laying only three times during the entire summer. The hens were purchased from a neighbor in 1895 when they were two years old.
